Introduction

IN this directory we have endeavored to give McHenry and Boone county farmers a complete and reliable directory of the farmers, breeders and merchants of the county, with such other information as will make the directory a valuable reference book.

The task of calling on every farmer in a county and collecting the information for such a directory is a tremendous one. We have received splendid co-operation from the farmers and business men of the county, without which the publication of such a directory would be impossible. In a very few cases we have found farmers unwilling to give the information requested, which accounts for a few names that do not appear.

A few mistakes are bound to occur in a directory that involves so large an amount of work, but we have spared no effort or expense to make the information complete and accurate, and we believe that the mistakes are very few.

We want to speak a word of appreciation for the advertisers whose liberal support has helped materially to bear the heavy expense of publishing this directory, and ask that you favor them with your patronage whenever possible.

We hope and believe that the publication of this directory will be a real service to McHenry and Boone county farmers and in line with FRANKIE FARMER's policy of service to the farmers of Illinois. We hope that the increased circulation of FRANKIE FARMER will help the Boone counties which has resulted with help in the movement for better farming, better farm living, and more prosperity for the country, and that our many new friends will become permanent members of the big FRANKIE FARMER family.

The Story of the Great Milk Strike.

(From Prairie Farmer, April 22, 1916.)
Farmers over the Chicago dairy district are enjoying the happiest Easter season they have ever known. They will take up spring work with renewed hopes and with real milk in their pails, for the strike has ended. The milk supply has been increased to Chicago's daily milk supply the 22 cents a hundred increase means that the 12,000 dairymen in the district will each get over $8,000 more for their milk than at the price offered by the strikers. The average farmer will receive 60 cents more per day for each farmer.

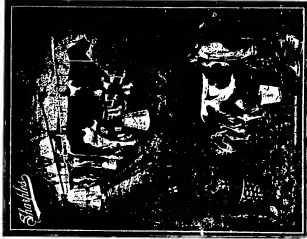

When it became clear on the first of April that the farmers meant business, the small companies began to fall into line. One by one they realized that there was little else to do but to supply out of their trade would soon go to the large companies, who could hold out a few days longer. McBride Brothers and Knobbe, ice cream manufacturers, operating a plant at Wauwatosa, Wis., were the first to consent to pay the association price. The Company at Woodstock, owned by Senator Olson, stood out until April 3, when, after several unsuccessful attempts to get milk delivered with the aid of the sheriff, it gave over to the farmers' side. Following this, the M. O. Co. was the first to have said that his sole reason for hesitating as long as he did was to see whether or not any of the large companies were going to pay the $155 also. There were many other companies in the district who were quick to get started. Most of them were quick to climb into the farmers' bandwagon.

Signs of an early settlement of the strike appeared Thursday, April 6, when the Ira J. Mix and Kce & Chapell companies, the two largest dealers to the Borden and Borden companies, announced that they would pay the farmers' price. On the same day Health Commissioner John Dill Robertson invited the officials of the Milk Producers' Association to the office of the milk companies in an attempt to effecting a busy arranging contracts between association members and buyers who had met the farmers' price, so word was sent that the strikers would not arbitrate in any way, but that they would gladly send representatives for a conference. It was provided it could be held the day following.

Commissioner Robertson agreed to this and on Friday a conference took place at the Hotel Milwaukee. The association, represented by President, R. B. Swift and George Brown, and representatives of the Borden, Bowman, Kce & Chapell, Wanzer and Ira J. Mix companies.

At the close of the conference, which lasted about an hour, it was announced that the Bowman company had agreed to pay the association price. The Borden decision left only the Borden company standing out, and its representatives tentatively agreed to accept the farmers' price. The Borden company had to have to be ratified by the directors of the company in New York before the contracts could be signed. During the conference an attempt was made to settle the price by long distance telephone but this failed. The Borden company office, but as this was unsuccessful the Borden representatives in conference asked the association for a day or so of time to obtain the necessary instructions from New York. Saturday was a quiet day from New York plants as the farmers had dealt with the strike. On Sunday many of the patrons were closed, while would-be patrons had given up trying to deliver milk to others. The Bowman and other plants operated on Saturday as if nothing had happened, and by Tuesday the Borden plants had resumed normal operation.

A very helpful ruling was that of the milk board, which permitted the sale of milk to companies meeting the association price irrespective of whether their competitors did so or not. In the milk producers' meeting at Chicago, March 27, there was considerable sentiment in favor of the strikers' price. The milk company until all had agreed to the association demands, but fortunately this plan was not adopted. Lack of sufficient competition for milk had been one of the chief causes for the Chicago milk strike. The effect of the strike on the buyers, who were early willing to pay $125 a hundred was to re-establish the much needed competition. The plan used served to line up the small buyers early through fear of losing trade to the strikers. The effect of the fight the large dealers became conscious of a feeling that the little fellows might run away with their customers. New York, and from points in Wisconsin outside of the Chicago dairy district.

In addition to shutting off the home supply, the farmers were successful also in stopping much of the milk shipped in from the outside district, and in preventing the transshipment of milk from one condensing bottling plant to another of this occurred at Belvidere, where the Borden company operates a condensery. Several attempts were made to ship whole milk from this plant to the bottling plant at Chicago, but this milk was taken there en route, and the milk was seized by the farmers. A few days later, on April 6, about 300 McHenry and Boone county farmers gathered at the Belvidere plant and prevented the delivery of a single pound of milk. After this, the Borden plant closed until the strike ended.

Every milk shipping or buying point in the district had its share of excitement during the strike, although cases where the farmers were very few. Picketters were out in force at most of the time during the strike. Sometimes they were obliged to use force in order to keep obdurate farmers from delivering milk, though moral persuasion was generally the more effective. The farmers of the striking farmers had to be appreciated, but a few instances of what took place at a few points will perhaps serve to impress those outside of the district with the tenaciousness of the milk farmers. About 20 loads of milk were dumped onto the farmers and a general scrap between farmers and deputies took place. Some of the deputies were reported to have drawn revolvers but were forced into automobiles by the farmers. At Palatine another dairy had its revolver taken away by a picket.

Fifty auto loads of pickets guarded the Borden plant at West Chicago April 7, keeping all milk away from it except the milk which was delivered before the strike. The pickets were delivered by the farmers. Usually one day's picketing was enough to convince the managers of a plant that they had better cease operations until after the strike, but if the milk was afterwards reported to be coming again, the pickets would come again. On the fifth of April several hundred farmers were on hand at the Elgin plants of the Borden company and put a stop to the delivery of milk at that place.

Some of this milk came from points in New York, and from points in Wisconsin outside of the Chicago dairy district. In addition to shutting off the home supply, the farmers were successful also in stopping much of the milk shipped in from the outside district, and in preventing the transshipment of milk from one condensing bottling plant to another of this occurred at Belvidere, where the Borden company operates a condensery. Some of the deputies were reported to have drawn revolvers but were forced into automobiles by the farmers. At Palatine another dairy had its revolver taken away by a picket.

In McHenry county, Ill., Myron J. Wright, who is keeping open the office of the county soil and crop improvement association during the absence of a representative of the same name from the county board, said: "The same part in the price was paid McHenry. No county had more milk to hold back or held it back more effectively than McHenry, and a good part of this was due to Mr. Wright's generalship in keeping the plants well supplied with cream. The plants at Woodstock, Elgin and the Borden plant in Woodstock and prevented the delivery of milk throughout the day. At night, however, a small amount of milk was received there; the plant being so anxious for the farmers' milk collected at several points near town and delivered to the plant by a dayman, who was protected by three deputy sheriffs. Picketing continued the next day, when not a pound was allowed to leave the plant on this day, April 5. The Borden plant at Rockford was closed. At Channahon a minor fight occurred between picketers and deputies.

The nearest approach to violence in McHenry county was at Harland, where the Borden plant operates. At this point the farmers and deputies were on the first of April and kept most of the milk away until the plant was closed on the fourth. This plant was literally closed by the farmers, for about noon on the first of April the pickets of the plant, turning the workmen out, and forced the superintendent to give up the key. Sheriff Wandrack of Woodstock and several deputies were rushed to the factory and order was restored late in the afternoon. The pickets of this district, however, officials of this district, Judge Donnelly at Woodstock asking for an injunction against the farmers. Judge Donnelly granted a writ forbidding violence and interfering with Bowman and the Borden company that he could not stop picketing by the farmers.

Many producers over the district adopted various means of disposing of their supply before the milk trade was normal. Shipping cream was one of the most common. One of the railroad station platforms were piled with cream cans throughout the night. At Harvard several separators were installed in a barn and used to separate milk that could not be handled at home. Subsequently the farmers called on the farmers' co-operative creamery there. On the evening before the milk strike began a representative of the Chicago Milk Drivers' Union addressed an enthusiastic meeting of farmers and townsmen in a Harvard church, urging the farmers to stand out for a fair price for their milk. The same day the farmers were also loyal to farmers about Hebron and the fight and little milk was delivered at that point. The Borden company at Hebron returned contracts to a few farmers who had signed for less than the association price after which the farmers' milk was not to be delivered. Separators for handling the farmers' milk were installed in a mill near Hebron and action was also taken toward building a new creamery.

At the association the members began to sign up to insist on all who signed becoming members. The members of the association were made unless the membership was forthcoming. As a result a number of the companies required their patrons to become members of the Milk Producers' Association. It is probable that nearly every producer in the Chicago district will become a member of the association before the last echoes of the price fight have passed.

Before the recent price campaign started some of the representatives of the milk producers were reported as saying that the milk producers were as wandering Jews—that they were not even agreed between themselves and that they could not stick together. Perhaps, after the unexpected success of the strike, it is probable that these producers have lost their faith in the milk buyers will be glad to accord them as much consideration as they do a hundred milk wagon drivers when they ask for an advance in wages.

The victory of the milk producers is without a parallel in agricultural history. The same results have already come in the for the future. It is fair to expect that the milk companies will at least give the producers more consideration in their dealings with them. The milk companies will have to stand together. Probably the heroic methods used in the recent fight will be unnecessary in the future. We hope so. But if the farmers are again called to action for some cause they will find that the victory was only recently disbanded. A nation's army is never stronger than just following a victorious war. The milk producers are now ready for a greater fight. It would be a wise policy for the large milk companies not to tempt them too far. In their association the farmers' ammunition is safe and they have found their leaders, to men like Smith and Kittie and the others who helped to bear the brunt of the fight.

Outside of the milk producing district the victory will also have a very encouraging effect. Agriculture has never had such an example of farmers sticking together for a cause, or winning so great a victory so quickly. Its lesson will not be lost. In many places farmers lack sufficient confidence in co-operation and organization. The success of the milk producers will give farmers everywhere more confidence in organized effort. This one victory is worth more than all the barrels of ink and hours of talk used to advance organization that were ever aimed at farmers' heads.—F. M. C.

WHEN THE BELT SLIPS

From Prairie Farmer.

The slipping of belts is a great annoyance, but it is a small matter compared with the danger to life and property if the proper-sized belts and pulleys are used and properly put in, there should be little or no slipping at all. Often the slipping of a belt is due to the overloaded carrying of it. Belts are economical in using money. Many a three-inch belt is made to do the work of a four-inch belt, much to the annoyance of the operator and the ruin of the belt.

However, when an immediate remedy is needed, a small quantity of powdered whiting, sprinkled on the inside of the belt is a good expedient to the least harmful of any similar application. The use of beeswax, rubbed on the inside of the belt or on the pulley is a very good remedy in cases of emergency.

Many people use powdered rosin on a pulley, but this is bad practice because it soon dries the leather and causes it to crack.

LIGHTNING RODS PROTECT BUILDINGS

From Prairie Farmer.

"It is generally agreed now that lightning rods, properly installed, do afford a considerable measure of protection to farm buildings, a fact which is indicated by the more favorable insurance rates which many insurance companies offer in insuring farm buildings than in insuring property in cities. K. J. E. Smith, professor of agricultural mechanics, University of Illinois, has stated that the small sum of $32 has been paid in four years for damage done to rodded buildings by lightning, although a total risk of lightning damage would be $100,000. Another farmer, taking risks amounting to fifty-nine million dollars, in the same period of time on both rodded and unrodded buildings, paid for damage done by lightning more than a thousand times as much as the other company paid for damage done by lightning.

"The Prairie Farmer fire insurance adjuster states that in his experience, for every dollar's worth of damage done to properly rodded buildings, there was $1,688 damage done to unrodded ones. In other words, there was indicated an efficiency of 99.9 per cent in favor of rodded buildings.

"Some of the points to be kept in mind in installing a system of lightning rod protection are as follows:

"(1) Either copper or galvanized iron may be used for lightning conductors. The cable form is satisfactory and the weight of the copper should be the same as the galvanized iron should be. The galvanized iron should be twice as much.

"(2) All parts of the wiring should be connected up into one system. No hind ends or joints should be left ungrounded. Joints should be made by securely soldering the conductors, as far as possible by soldering and brazing.

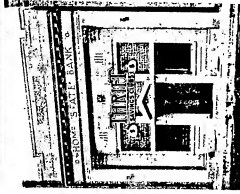

"(3) The conductor should be firmly fastened to the building instead of being insulated from it, as is sometimes done. The purpose of the conductor is to lead away from the building, insulation prevents this.

THE PRAIRIE FARMER'S CREED

I believe in red clover, I believe in cow peas, I believe in soy beans, and above all, I believe in alfalfa, the queen of forage plants.

I believe in a permanent agriculture, a soil that shall grow richer rather than poorer from year to year.

I believe in hundred bushel corn and in fifty bushel wheat, and I shall not be satisfied with anything less.

I believe that the only good weed is a dead weed, and that a clean farm is as important as a clean conscience.

I believe in the farm boy and in the farm girl, the farmer's best crops and the future's best hope.

I believe in the farm woman, and will do all in my power to make her life easier and happier.

I believe in a country school that prepares for country life, and a country church that teaches its people to love deeply and live honorably.

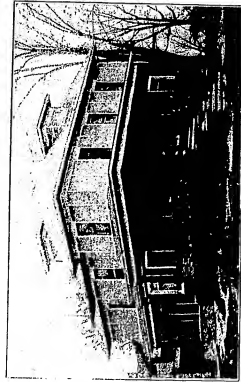

I believe in community spirit, a pride in home and neighbors, and I will do my part to make my own community the best in the state.

I believe in better roads. I will use the road drag conscientiously whenever opportunity offers, and I will not "soldier" when working out my road tax.

I believe in happiness, I believe in the power of a smile, and I will use mine on every possible occasion.

I believe in the farmer. I believe in farm life, I believe in the inspiration of the open country.

I am proud to be a farmer, and I will try earnestly to be worthy of the name.

When you go into a store to buy shoes, say to the clerk, "I want a pair of shoes". If you name a brand of shoes you know will give you satisfaction, you not only say you want shoes, but you know about what you want. A clerk will always give closer attention to a customer who knows what he wants. It is human nature. The clerk will be more likely to give you satisfaction, even if he does not have the make of shoes you ask for, because he will know better what to show you, if you are willing to consider another make.

Almost everyone in Illinois knows the Leaf Farmer. Thousands of Illinois farmers laugh over his songs in Prairie Farmer every two weeks. You are missing a treat if you are not a reader of the Leaf Farmer's sayings.

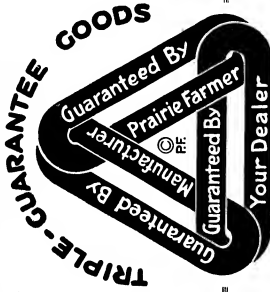

Interurban Bridge, Belvidere, Ill.

PROTECT YOUR HONEST DOLLAR

To Prairie Farmer Readers—

Don't buy cheap, unadvertised goods, but protect yourself when buying by insisting on getting from your dealer only—

All Goods Advertised in Prairie Farmer are TRIPLE-G Goods.
All Goods Advertised in This Directory are TRIPLE-G Goods.

When the local dealer says in his advertisement:

"We Sell and Recommend the Following TRIPLE-Guarantee Goods"

as in any advertisement in Prairie Farmer or in this Directory, it gives you this TRIPLE-Guarantee

- 1st That the manufacturer of the goods stands back of them.
- 2nd That the Prairie Farmer stands back of them.
- 3rd That the merchant handling the goods stands back of them.

"TRIPLE-Guarantee Goods"

*Are the best value for the money.
Safest to buy.
And Satisfaction is absolutely insured.*

What Are "TRIPLE-G" Goods?

WHY should you ask for them and refuse any other kind?

WHEN a reader of Prairie Farmer goes into a store to buy, he is assured of getting full value for his money if he insists on buying only well known advertised goods and refusing to buy any unknown brand substitute.

WHY?

Because advertised goods are well known goods that are backed up with the guarantee of PRAIRIE FARMER and the manufacturer. If the goods are not as represented in the advertising, or do not give full satisfaction, this TRIPLE GUARANTEE means that you have only to make your complaint and that any just claim will be fairly considered and your money paid back in case the goods are not as represented. This is PRAIRIE FARMER'S FAIR PLAY POLICY with its readers. We back up every advertisement in PRAIRIE FARMER and guarantee honest treatment. No humbugs, swindles or cheap substitute goods (that are made to sell and get the customer's money on false pretenses) are advertised in PRAIRIE FARMER. Buy the goods advertised in PRAIRIE FARMER and in this Directory and you are taking no chances. You are guaranteed satisfaction because all goods we advertise are

GLUE METHOD OF INOCULATION

By Frank I. Mann in Prairie Farmer.
The glue method of inoculating clover and alfalfa seed is not only cheap and easy, but it is nearly "fool proof," that is, it is so simple that even a beginner can do it. The details to have to be attended to in its results. A pound of glue may be dissolved in a gallon of water or in two or three gallons of water, without any appreciable difference in the results, and a quart of dry dirt mixed with the glue water has been moistened on the seed. The glue water, as a rule, about a quart of dirt may stick to the seed, and the rest of the dirt may be screened out or not, just as you prefer, as the amount of dirt is not material, if there is enough in preparing the dirt, however. The dirt, as shown by the nodules formed, and if the host plant, in this case sweet clover, has grown in the same place for several years the inoculation will be better. This dirt should be dried in the sun, and the sunlight is a great aid in the drying process. The dirt should be finely pulverized and sifted through a fine sieve, but this is not much trouble, as so small an amount is used.

When you go into a store to buy shoes, say to the clerk, "I want a pair of shoes". If you name a brand of shoes you know will give you satisfaction, you not only say you want shoes, but you know about what you want. A clerk will always give closer attention to a customer who knows what he wants. It is human nature. The clerk will be more likely to give you satisfaction, even if he does not have the make of shoes you ask for, because he will know better what to show you, if you are willing to consider another make.
